1. I added a welcome statement at the beginning to make the program more user-friendly.
2. The easiest part of this challenge was copying each line of code and changing one or two of the numbers and the hardest part of this assignment was trying to figure out how I could make a variable for the total cost per minute of the candles purchased. I enjoyed this assignment.